

American Physical Society

Conference for Undergraduate women in physics

January 16- 18, 2015

Purdue University

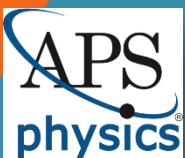

Purdue University is thrilled to be hosting the 2015 APS Conference for Undergraduate Women in Physics! APS CUWiP @ Purdue will feature several talks from faculty and guests about various aspects of their careers, panel discussions about graduate school and careers, discussions about being a woman in physics, tours of Purdue's labs, and a student research poster session.

Goals of this conference include

- Providing networking opportunities
- Providing information about graduate schools and career opportunities
- Connecting undergraduate women with potential female mentors
- Giving undergraduate women the tools to be successful

Sponsored by

Visit aps.org or physics.purdue.edu/conference/cuwip2015 for more information.